West Seeking To Enlarge Groups in UN

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Despite an advance Russian rejection, the West went ahead with plans today to ask the U.N. Assembly to approve a compromise plan enlarging the Disarmament Commission from 12 members to 25.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister V. V. Kuznetsov told newsmen the enlarged group proposed by the West would be stacked at least 16-9 against Russia. He demanded that at least half the members of any such group be Communist or neutralist.

Prospects were uncertain for the Western plan, conceived to keep the Russians from carrying out their threat to boycott the disarmament talks.

The Soviets let it be known they planned to seek a prior vote on their earlier demand to balloon out the arms negotiations to include all 82 U. N. members. The West has regarded this as a Soviet bluff for bargaining purposes.

Kuznetsov said either the proposed 25-nation commission must be expanded to provide 7 more Communists or neutralists, or some Western bloc countries must be subtracted to provide a balance.

The commission in the past has been made up of the 11 Security Council members and Canada, but the actual negotiations have been carried on by a five-nation sub-committee made up of the United States, Britain, France, Canada and the Soviet Union.

Part of Skeleton Found South of City

State patrolmen and Coroner E. R. Sturgis are attempting to identify a human skull found this morning near a trailer at the Doug Turner Engineering plant just south of Salem on the Lisbon Rd.

George Vollmer, an employee, made the discovery at 10 a.m. A set of false teeth was nearby. Authorities are speculating that the skull might be part of the body of Charles Eichler of the Pidgeon Rd., who wandered away from his home last summer and was never found despite widespread searches of the neighborhood.

GRISLY TALE — Bachelor farmer Ed Gein, 51, unshaven and hollow-eyed, is led from County Jail in Wautoma, Wis., after police reported he had confessed to the butchering of a woman storekeeper, Mrs. Bernice Worden, 58. Mrs. Worden's decapitated body was found hanging by the heels in a shed on Gein's Plainfield, Wis., farm. Police are investigating the possibility that Gein had committed several other unsolved area murders. Gein has admitted robbing graves, police said. With Gein is Sheriff Art Schley of Wausara County.

Admits Collecting Human Heads

Edward Gein Faces Lie Detector Test

WAUTOMA, Wis. (AP)—A diffident, little man who admitted in puzzled tones Monday that he had opened fresh graves over a period of years to collect human heads and finally butchered a neighbor woman—"while in a daze-like"—faced a polygraph test of his story.

Edward Gein, a 51-year-old Plainfield bachelor handyman, was taken to Madison today for a lie detector test at the state crime laboratory.

He is being held under $10,000 bond for the armed robbery of Mrs. Bernice Worden last Saturday.

Dist. Atty. Earl Kileen said the filing of a murder charge in the death of the 58-year-old widow, whose disemboweled corpse was found hanging like a deer carcass in Gein's woodshed Saturday night, awaits only a complete sifting of the gruesome remnants found on his secluded farm, about 120 miles northwest of Milwaukee.

"I am not too sure that I killed her," said Gein.

"That is what I can't remember," he said in a question-and-answer session with Wausara County officers.

A "daze," he said, came on him when he did such things as dig up the graves from which he took at least 10 heads.

Once, he said, the daze left him while he was digging in a burial mound.

"I quit then," he said.

Investigators, who found Mrs. Worden's decapitated corpse, discovered the heads of four other persons in Gein's house Sunday and found six more there Monday. Some were packaged neatly in plastic bags, others were tossed under furniture.

In a signed statement, Gein said he had not "collected any for two or three years."

Kileen said Gein took him to cemeteries he had visited.

Abel Plans to Appeal Court Conviction

NEW YORK (AP)—Russian Col. Rudolf I. Abel, 55, sentenced to 30 years in prison as a spy, has decided to appeal his conviction and sentence.

James B. Donovan, court-appointed chief defense counsel, visited Abel Monday at the Federal House of Detention and then issued the following statement which said in part:

"I conferred today at some length with the defendant. His rights under our law were explained to him. I also advised him that in the unanimous opinion of defense counsel, he possesses meritorious grounds for an appeal."

Abel was convicted in U.S. District Court in Brooklyn Oct. 25 on charges including conspiring to transmit U.S. military information to the Soviet Union.

Car Is Looted

The glove compartment of a car owned by John Zamora, 310 S. Ellsworth Ave., was looted of tools sometime between 7 and 11 p.m. Monday night.

The car was unlocked when the tools, valued at $15, were stolen, police said.

3 of 7 Escapees From Indiana Jail Recaptured

Authorities Report
Admitted Sex Killer
Still Remains at Large

CROWN POINT, Ind. (AP)—Police have captured three of seven prisoners who escaped from the Lake County Jail early Monday, including two of three accused slayers, but an admitted sex killer, possibly the most dangerous, was still at large today.

The latter is George R. Brown, 25, East Gary, object of one of the most extensive man-hunts since the days of Indiana desperado John Dillinger. Lake County Sheriff Jack West gave "shoot-to-kill" orders in the hunt for the four fugitives.

Brown was to have gone on trial Monday for one of two sex murders police say he has admitted. His attorney said he was to have pleaded insanity. He is a former mental patient.

Also at large were Houston E. Smith, 18, Chicago; Wallace Mohammed, 18, Chicago; and Mack Dow Keith, 28, Gary, all accused of theft.

The seven escaped from a 75-year-old section of the jail by using a metal table leg to break through a cell wall into a corridor and pry window bars apart.

Chicago police captured two of the men, both Negroes, Monday night on a tip from a woman they were visiting.

Seized on Chicago's south side were Kenneth M. Pointer, 35, Gary, charged with the murder of a woman several days ago, and James Norman, 32, Chicago, charged with grand larceny and first degree burglary.

Another of the seven, Raymond A. Karr, 40, was captured in his father's home in Gary about six hours after the escape. He is charged with murder in the killing of an uncle.

G. F. Koontz. School Board Clerk, to Resign

George F. Koontz, clerk-treasurer, of the Board of Education for the past 24 years, said today he would not seek re-appointment to the post when his present term expires Dec. 31.

A public accountant, Mr. Koontz said that the pressure of private business would make it necessary for him to step down as board clerk.

He has been clerk-treasurer for the Board of Education since Jan. 1, 1933, when he was named to succeed the late Albert Hayes, who had been clerk for 28 years.

The board is expected to seek applications for the post in the near future. The board's customary procedure is to name a clerk every two years, and always in the past named the incumbent to succeed himself. Mr. Koontz's last appointment was made Jan. 10, 1956, at a contract of $3,200 a year.

City Council Plans Confab On Zoning

The meeting will be set for next week at which time the zoning plans will be rehearsed and explained by the engineers.

Three fund transfer ordinances are also on the docket for action by council tonight.

French Workers Seek Pay Hike

More Than 1 Million
Join in 3rd Walkout

PARIS (AP)—Several thousand striking civil servants marched on the French Finance Ministry today, shouting demands for higher pay.

First reports indicated that more than one million government workers had joined in the 24-hour warning walkout, third such in France in just over a month.

Strong police forces were on hand to control the marchers and there was no trouble.

Postal services were hit particularly by the strike. No mail was sorted. Many Paris buildings were reported without water, but railroad, bus, electric power and gas services were not affected.

Across the Seine in the Parliament Building, the National Assembly had already ended its debate on Premier Felix Gaillard's plea for special powers to fight

Soldier, Bride Scheduled To Depart Soon For U. S.

MAEBASHI, Japan (AP)—GI William S. Girard was convicted to day of shooting down a woman scrap collector to satisfy a "momentary caprice." A three-judge Japanese court gave him a three-year suspended prison sentence and put him on probation for a fourth year.

Girard called the verdict after the three-month trial "kind of tough" but said he was glad the court "gave me another chance."

The 22-year-old soldier from Ottawa, Ill., and his Japanese bride are scheduled to leave for the United States quickly if neither prosecution nor defense appeal the verdict during the next 14 days.

The court said the probationary period would apply only if he remained in Japan. Girard also was ordered to pay the court costs of the Japanese witnesses, about $29.

Doesn't Intend to Appeal

Chief defense attorney Isuro Hayashi said the defense does not intend to appeal unless the prosecution does. A prosecution spokesman indicated his side also would not challenge the court ruling, saying, "We are happy that all our contentions were accepted." The prosecutors had asked for a five-year sentence, which under Japanese custom would have ruled out a suspension.

Girard, a specialist third class, told a news conference he would

Rain Delays School Work

Weather Hampers
Laying of Bricks

Because of the inclement weather the past few weeks, Salem's new $2 million high school will not be finished in February, which was the proposed completion date.

This statement was made today by Clyde Wright, clerk of the works for the Board of Education.

Wright said the brick work and the laying of glass blocks on the east and west of the new gymnasium has been delayed but he assured that all will be done in plenty of time for occupancy next September.

The work on the inside of the new high school is on schedule and, except for the gym roof, the covering is completed.

The recent rainy weather has also held up the paving of the E. Sixth St. extension which will run past to the school. This street will be barricaded for the winter as soon as the curbs are finished and a key base installed. Actual paving will be done next summer.

2 Are Cited After Traffic Accidents

Two persons were arrested and a trailer-tractor extensively damaged in two auto mishaps on area highways Monday.

The first accident occurred at 10 a.m. on Rt. 224, two miles east of Canfield. A trailer-tractor driven by Cedric S. Carroll, 42, of Massillon failed to stop behind a slow moving lane of traffic, veered off the highway and turned over. Estimated damage to the vehicle was $1,000, according to highway patrolmen.

Carroll was cited for unsafe operation.

The second accident occurred at 1 p.m. on Rt. 62, four miles west of Salm. when a car driven by George E. Jackson Jr., 19, of Sebring, made an improper turn in front of a car driven by Charles K. Long, 19, of Cleveland. Only minor damage was done, according to patrolmen.

Jackson was cited for making an improper left turn.

Thirty Deaths Attributed to Violent Storms

Tornadoes, Snow, Rain
Windstorms Pound
Many Areas of Nation

By The Associated Press
An outbreak of wild November weather dealt destructive blows to broad areas in the South and mid-continent Monday.

Tornadoes, snow, rain and windstorms pounded many areas. Floods menaced some Southern states, forcing hundreds of persons from their homes.

Deaths attributed to the violent weather numbered at least 19 and an over-all total of 30 since the weekend. Several persons were injured. Property damage, mostly from tornadoes and floods, mounted into the millions of dollars.

The season's heaviest snowstorm which hit the Midwest appeared tapering off today but strong northwesterly winds, with gusts up to 50 m.p.h. caused much drifting. Visibility was sharply reduced and highway travel was considered hazardous in many areas. Snow plows in some places were unable to make much headway because of the steady drifting.

Snow piled up to more than a foot in sections of Nebraska, Kansas, Iowa, Minnesota and Wisconsin. While the heavy snow diminished in eastern parts of South Dakota and Nebraska, more snow fell from Iowa and southern Minnesota into northwestern Wisconsin and Upper Michigan. Depths of 8 to 12 inches were general.

The deaths attributed to the stormy weather since the weekend included Nebraska 6; Alabama 6, with 2 missing and presumed dead; Minnesota 5; Illinois 5; Kentucky 4; Mississippi 2.

Tornadoes ripped across areas in Alabama, Kentucky and Mississippi. More than 20 persons were injured in Alabama. The twisters hit the Birmingham area and several small Alabama communities.

Central and western sections of Kentucky were hammered by tornadoes and electrical storms, while Hopkinsville was hardest hit by floods as the Little River overflowed. Some 150 families were evacuated. Waters appeared receding and some roads into the city of 12,526 were passable.

Floodwaters covered about 60 per cent of seven counties in the Missouri "Bootheel," forcing the evacuation of more than 150 families from farms. The overflows extended over thousands of acres of cotton and soybeans.

In Tennessee, a flash flood near Portland halted service on the Louisville and Nashville Railroad between Franklin, Ky., and Nashville. Windstorms hit many areas.

More than 100 families were forced to leave their homes in sections of southeastern Tennessee after storms overflowed.

Mississippi reported at least six persons injured in tornadoes.

No severe cold was reported in the snow belt, but the strong winds and blowing snow made it blizzard-like in some areas.

250 Attend McKinley School PTA Meeting

The McKinley Parent-Teacher Association met Monday night. More than 250 parents and teachers assembled to observe open house at the school.

After a brief business meeting in the school gymnasium, the teachers met with the parents in their classrooms, where samples of the students' work were shown and mutual problems discussed.

Later, the group reassembled for a social hour. The hospitality committee was composed of a group of mothers of kindergarten children. Co-chairmen were Mrs. Chester Roof and Mrs. Harry Barker.

The next meeting will be Jan. 21, at which time Dr. Ward Mowry will speak on mental health.

Chronic Bronchitis

California and Florida are also popular areas.

The problem is complicated by the fact that some sufferers from any one of these disorders do well in one place and not in another. Consequently, anyone who is considering changing climate on account of disease can only pick what looks like a desirable spot and then try it for several months. Even if results are good for them, it may not be for someone else.

Why a change of climate should be helpful in some cases is not quite clear. Most warmer regions do not have the variation in temperature from season to season take. For example, there is a tendency toward fewer cases of illness and even a lower death rate in regions like Australia and Argentina which have few storms.

Some medical investigators are inclined to place great emphasis on climate and weather in relation to disease. Although there is no complete agreement on this matter, further study on the relationship between climate, weather and a number of human ills may make it possible in the future to answer questions like Mrs. T.'s more accurately.

Congratulations, Team!

There's little doubt in anyone's mind that the Salem High School football team, which ended a successful season Saturday night, was one of the best Quaker squads in many years.

Not only did Coach Earle Bruce's team post an impressive 9-1 record this fall but, in so doing, the Red and Black restricted all but one opponent to a lone touchdown. Only Ravenna scored twice against Salem and that happened at the start of the season on a rainy night when the Quakers were too cautious about opening up.

Since that time, however, the Salem High gridders have romped over every opponent, displaying a brand of offensive and defensive football that would have put them on par with the biggest high schools in the state. Two, teams, unbeaten in 20-me games, tasted defeat at the hands of the Quakers.

Today's Associated Press year-end poll ranks the Quakers 12th, a compliment to their prowess.

Several factors determined the success of the Salem High School team this fall. Well-coached, the players took the game seriously from the beginning of early practices, they were in good physical condition, played as a team and understood well the merits of defensive as well as offensive play. The unheralded stars of the line come in for their full share of credit along with the backs whose exhibitions of scat-back maneuvering always brought the fans to their feet.

Because every member of the team was a star in his own right no attempt will be made to single out players by name.

Our congratulations are extended to the Salem High School team and its able coaching staff.

Will Sputnik Ring U. S. School Bells?

More educational soul-searching is going on in the United States right now than ever before.

It had started before Sputnik I shocked the world into realization of Russian educational advance under the Communist dictatorship. It was brought to a climax by the first earth satellite.

Millions of Americans who had taken only a casual interest in scattershot criticism of their system of education suddenly began to take a hard look at its operation.

They were looking because a country never noted for mass education had stolen a march on the only country that had made mass education a fixed goal.

WHAT IS GOING to happen now will give U.S. educators a rough time. Although most of them have been dreaming of such an awakening, they will not be long in discovering that the awakening, itself, will create problems.

For one thing, everybody and his brother will rush forward with an idea to change the educational process to suit some pet prejudice. The Three-R crowd will begin to pot-shoot the progressives and vice versa. The people who think education is buildings will want to spend untold billions of dollars. The grousers who suspect all teachers of being a bit shaky in their loyalty will go on the warpath. At the same time, the academicians who hate to come down to earth will soar even higher into the heavens.

Nevertheless, there is something we can learn from the astonishing progress in Russian education in a generation. Fortunately, every U.S. educator already knew the Russian secret. The only Americans who stand to learn anything new are those who never grasped the difference between going to school as a matter of privilege and going to school as a matter of right.

The U.S. Office of Education has shown in a timely report on Russian education that students over there attend classes as a matter of privilege and must work their heads off to retain the privilege. They go to school six days a week and considerably more than 200 days a year. They cram tightly into 10 years what it takes 12 years to cover loosely in America.

They have no freedom of choice. Their capabilities are known because they have been tested, and their teachers are responsible for developing their potential mental powers. The teachers, in turn, have been given absolute authority to maintain discipline and do their educational job without distraction. There are no "baby-sitters" in Russian education, no goof-offs.

NO ONE WHO believes that the main goal of education should be to enhance the dignity of the individual is going to accept the U.S.S.R. doctrine that education's purpose is to enhance the power of the state.

But no one who believes that cultivated human resources are the ultimate power of society is going to argue that the U. S. educational system has been doing such a good job it is beyond criticism.

Educators, themselves, have been critical of the system here. They have resented their handicaps as teachers. In turn, they have been criticized as educators for failure to do things they never had a chance to do while the handicaps existed.

They have dreamed of what they could do if they could concentrate on teaching the educable and training the trainable, instead of wasting time on disciplinary problems and "baby-sitting."

This is why Sputnik may ring U.S. school bells.

Something accounts for Russia's incredible urge in education. Its spectacular success with education for the advancement of the state has challenged the U. S. concept of education for the advancement of the individual.

THE KEY TO RUSSIA'S success has been the incentive of its students to realize their highest potential. By the same token, the key to America's dissatisfaction with its educational method has been the failure of so many of the educable to make the most of their opportunity. They have shunned the hard fields of learning in favor of the easy ones. They have dropped out of school because that was the line of least resistance. They have not held their teachers in extra-high regard because their teachers were not so regarded by others.

Ultimately, nothing but good can come from the soul-searching that Sputnik I started in U.S. education. In the meantime, there will be recriminations, false starts, muddle-headedness and chaos. But out of it all, eventually, will come realization that the success of education is measured by quality of students, not quantity.

Russia, although short on quantity, has been producing high quality, especially in the sciences.

Once Over

American homes are giving the Rossellini-Bergman case a good going-over, with wives apparently ahead on the point system of scoring fireside arguments. Statement prepared by Ingrid, Roberto and lawyers on "serene future relations assured by an unforgettable past and deep mutual affections" is taking a blasting.

"No past is unforgettable if you can junk the marriage so easily," snaps the missus. "And there ain't no deep affection, mutual or otherwise, when a man and wife can give matrimony, the home and the best interests of the kids the brush-off that fast."

"Our life in double-harness hasn't been free from trouble and you have been no bargain," she continued. "But the past has been unforgettable enough to make me change my mind everytime I have thought of throwing you out." We made the simple reply, "Vice versa. What do you make of that pledge of Ingrid and Roberto about serene future relations?"

"IT IS THE SAME as saying they will have no further trouble if they give each other the old heave-ho and bums' rush," said the wife. "There were a few understandable circumstances," we suggested. "Sure there were," said the missus.

"Rossellini you can have, with or without the Indian rights. But when Ingrid took him she knew he was not Mister Steadfast or the Home Builder of the Year. What I object to is the typical show biz baloney about mutual love through a mutual boot through the nearest exit. Ain't there something in all marriage services about sticking together for better, for worse, in sickness and health and until death doth us part?"

"For most folks," we admitted. "Then why not for people whose only handicap is success, big money, wonderful press notices and a pretty soft existence?" she demanded.

Hi—Don't you know that, despite price of new cars, they were higher in earliest days of autoing Beeswax.

A—Sure we do. There was a luxury car, the Pierce-Arrow, which sold at $5,000; also the Locomobile, Pope-Hartford and Stutz Bearcat, for example, also costly and a mark of affluence. Ford started trend to low-priced cars and drove the above out of biz.

YALE-HARVARD football game will be telecast this year. It's about time the traditional classics got at least as much attention as Slippery Rock.

"Of Time Remembered" new Broadway play shows Helen Hayes at her usual best but we stick to our earlier observation that it is such a talky comedy that "Gabby" Hayes should be co-starred.

Just when most folks had concluded that only movies emphasizing sex, lust and criminal routines made money comes cheering news that DeMille's "Ten Commandments" has broken all records and may be best-paying pix of all time. Grossed $2½ million dollars in New York alone in a year's run and 26½ million in 800 cities. But just when folks were cheered by this came news that Hollywood was about to turn out a movie of Al Capone's life and works.

'Busting Buttons'

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON — We're getting self-conscious.

We've been busting our buttons—talking and performing—to show how strong we are ever since Russia fired the Sputniks.

But we didn't have the right muscles at the right time. The Russians won a propaganda victory.

Allies and neutrals were left with visions of Russian missiles and hydrogen warheads dropping in their flowerpots.

Something had to be done to reassure friends, warn foes. A whole batch of statements and performances followed, none as spectacular as Sputnik.

Last Wednesday Gen. Curtis LeMay, vice chief of staff of the Air Force, captained a jet-tanker nonstop from Massachusetts to Argentina without refueling, a record of over 6,000 miles. After a rest, he flew it back to Washington, also nonstop.

That same day three jet-bombers flew 8,000 miles from California to the Philippines, nonstop but with refueling.

Over the weekend six B52 bombers flew nonstop from Florida to Argentina and — without landing but with refueling—drew back to

Thought For Today

Before the Lord; for he cometh to judge the earth: with righteousness shall he judge the world, and the people with equity. — Psalms 96:9.

It is a great thing to know that if the eternal doors swing open the other way for you, you have a friend on the other side waiting to receive you. — Dr. Howard Kelly.

upstate New York.

Meanwhile, the Defense Department announced the Navy was being equipped with atomic depth bombs, said it had shot off various kinds of missiles, and told of breaking an altitude record with a rocket.

All this illustrated President Eisenhower's talk to the nation two weeks ago, a talk in which he said he would give the "rough" with the "smooth." There was more of the smooth than the rough.

He said, with examples, this country had developed a family of missiles, with some 8 different types either in operation or under development.

In some instances he's been accused of overstating his case.

While Russia is claiming development of a missile that can span an ocean and a continent, this country has surrounded Russia with air bases and now is suggesting bases from which intermediate range missiles can be fired, if they have the missiles.

The United States has no intercontinental ballistic missile yet. But Eisenhower said because of these bases those shorter range missiles are in some cases as good as the other kind.

'Secret Weapon'

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK — U.S. foreign trade and aid policy is getting a new look today on the eve of what may become the hottest congressional fight over tariffs in 25 years.

A U.S. State Department official reports the Communist countries have more than 100 trade and payments agreements with underdeveloped non-Communist countries. The Reds offer increased trade, loans and technical assistance.

The White House is expected to ask Congress for a step up in foreign aid next year, citing the missile peril. It is also going to fight hard for a five year extension of the reciprocal trade program, which is under heavy fire from the protectionist clans since Smoot-Hawley tariff days.

Benjamin F. Fairless, president of the American Iron & Steel Institute, tells some 2,000 leaders in business, finance, shipping, education and government meeting here for the 44th National Foreign Trade Convention: "Our secret weapon is trade—trade under our system of capitalism and competitive enterprise—accompanied by capital investment and technical aid in undeveloped countries."

Fairless, once head of U.S. Steel, urges the business leaders to see that private capital be the big weapon—not taxpayers' money in the form of government aid.

Foreign traders are meeting at a critical time for their business. The Department of Commerce reports U.S. exports have been declining for the last six months. Part of this is due to a growing inability of other nations to pay for American goods, and part to the increasing competition from German and Japanese manufacturers.

France's faltering franc and England's recently bolstered pound worry traders and international bankers. What the infant common market in Western Europe will do to America's trade there is still in doubt.

Russian trade competition isn't much of a threat yet but some American businessmen think the day is coming when it could be.

At home the battle lines are being tightly drawn over the about-to-expire Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act. An increasing number of industries complain of being hurt by foreign competition and clamor for higher tariff or import quota barriers.

The administration, on the other hand, is more anxious with each new Sputnik to build friendlier relations with our allies, even though they be trade competitors. Lower tariffs would do this and the White House hopes, so would increased foreign aid.

Legal Complications

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Law On Political Contributions in Question

What is "the law of the land" today with respect to the right of labor unions or corporations to contribute funds to elect candidates in a political campaign?

A federal grand jury in Detroit a few days ago acquitted the United Automobile Workers of America which had been under criminal indictment for two years on a charge of violating the statutes that bar both labor unions and corporations from contributing to election campaigns. The verdict tended to confirm the union's plea that the money put up for television speeches by certain political candidates in Michigan was simply a use for "educational" purposes and a means of informing the union membership on current questions.

But the constitutionality of the law itself wasn't passed upon. A jury doesn't have to give its reasons, nor is its pronouncement a conclusive means of construing the meaning or scope of any law.

SO NOT EFFORTS are being made, notably by Sen. Charles E. Potter (R-Mich.), to find out from the Department of Justice just what the score is.

First, is there any immunity now to both corporations and labor unions and may they contribute funds to campaigns just as individual citizens do?

Second, is the law itself constitutional, and what can be done to clarify its status?

Obviously another suit, this time a civil proceeding, will have to be brought in which the validity of the law could be questioned. The Supreme Court of the United States will have to pass on the issue finally and there is little that Congress can do in the meantime for the existing law is explicit and undertakes to prohibit contributions of money or anything of value when offered by or solicited from any labor organization or corporation or business.

But is the present law constitutional? Certainly the First Amendment to the Constitution forbids Congress to pass any law that abridges the "freedom of speech" or the "freedom of assembly" of any citizens. If the language of the present law is applied strictly, then a group of individuals in a labor union cannot even hire a hall to hold a political meeting and discuss the issues.

Labor unions have gotten around the present ban by forming volunteer organizations specifically devoted to political activities, and these have been parallel to but not a part of labor-union organizations. Corporate executives likewise have participated in informal political committees as individuals and not as officers or executives of corporations.

TO THE EXTENT that the labor unions or the corporations are paying the salaries of the "volunteer" workers on political committees, the question can be raised as to whether in that way contributions to the political campaign are being made by either the unions or the corporations themselves.

Basically, the right of a citizen to express his political beliefs and to furnish a contribution to a political committee to help spread his beliefs is not questioned, though Congress has undertaken to limit the maximum contribution that an individual can make to particular committees or in behalf of congressional candidates.

But there has been no constitutional way found to prevent a citizen from spending his money in a campaign when he does it without getting the authorization of a candidate. Certainly the candidate himself might object but the citizen cannot be prevented from exercising his civil rights in any political cause.

The real question is whether, when citizens band themselves together as labor organizations or corporations, they can be prohibited from contributing or their contributions can be restricted.

THE COURTS will have difficulty with that point if it is unrelated, of course, to circumstances involving corruption.

Thus, if one group of citizens can band in a political committee and spend funds to help elect a candidate in an election campaign, certainly another group which happens to be called a "labor union" or a "corporation" can hardly be barred from exercising the same privilege. For all citizens are entitled to the "equal protection of the laws, without discrimination."

The situation points to the eventual declaration by the Supreme Court that both labor unions and corporations may contribute funds to campaigns, though in the case of the latter the Congress could refuse to allow deductions of such items for tax purposes.

This might lead to demands for legislation to provide that labor unions also be taxed on the excess of their receipts over their expenditures.

It is a subject of far-reaching implications and today there isn't any clarity about "the law of the land" as to campaign contributions by either unions or corporations.

Something to Grow On

By TRUMAN TWILL

As long as tidbits of reassurance like this one can be found in newspapers, the hunt will be worth the hunting:

Dr. Mason Trupp of Tampa told the Southern Medical Assn. that monkeys do not have brain tumors, strokes, similar ailments and misery from headaches because they relieve their brain tensions at the other end of the line by wiggling their tails.

Dr. Trupp is not making this up out of the whole, er, cloth, either. He has been fooling around with an experimental operation on a nerve called the "filum terminale," which is all that remains of mankind's spinal rudder. He claims his manipulation of this nerve — the one that tingles when you sail away up high in a swing or feel like falling off a ladder — can really change what goes on in the brain box at the top of the spine.

There is every good reason why mankind should try to do something about restoring tails immediately. It might be tackled by the United Nations, which tackles everything else.

Rehabilitated Nations

Most of us realize that nations cannot be asked to pay for their crimes in war over a span of endless decades.

The powerful nations of the West, victors over Germany and Japan in World War II, long ago decided upon rehabilitation as the sound course. Remarkably, great headway was made.

The victims of wartime aggression cannot be expected to adjust easily to acceptance of their tormentors as friends. Thus it is horrendously understandable that the doughty Norwegians, who felt the German heel for five years, should not regard kindly the first German officer to set foot on their soil in peacetime.

Their protest against Lt. Gen. Dr. Hans Speidel, Bonn's representative at NATO headquarters, was forcibly brought home to him when he made his first visit to Norway. He had to land 80 miles from his intended goal.

But, their very human outcry having now been heard, the Norwegians like all the rest of us must be prepared to find a place in the new scheme of things for a restored and rehabilitated Germany. The Germans' contribution to the struggle for freedom can be immense if they are wisely pulled into the orbit of respected nations.

Black to Fight Extradition To California

VAN WERT, Ohio (AP)—James F. Black, accused of the robbery-slaying of his 31-year-old roommate in Riverside, Calif., last April, says he will fight extradition to California.

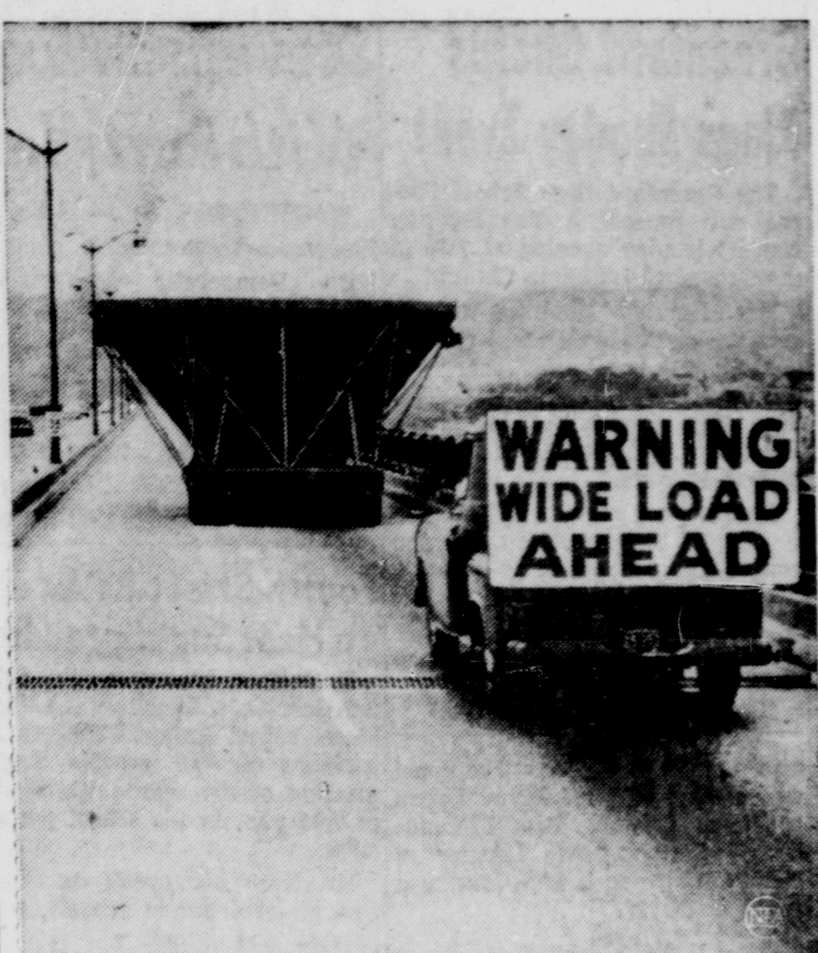

Black is accused by Riverside authorities of shooting Benjamin Snow, tying Snow's body in a bedspread and dumping it near a Riverside cement plant. Officers said some $4,000 in bonds and an expensive camera was missing from Snow's belongings.

Sheriff Wilmer J. Clay, who arrested Black here, said Black neither admits nor denies he killed Snow.

The victim's father, Thomas Snow of Lima, said his son went to California with Black and his family in 1956. Black was later divorced and, according to his ex-wife, he and Snow then began rooming together.

Sheriff Clay said Black had been living with his grandparents here and working as a laborer for several months.

Riverside authorities, here to question Black, said they would return to California today to begin extradition proceedings.

PAUL BUNYAN'S BATHTUB?—This rolling roadblock crossing the Blue Star Memorial Bridge from Groton to New London, Conn., had motorists guessing that it was anything from a swimming pool to part of a guided missile. The giant 21-ton object is actually a submarine hull section built by General Dynamics' Electric Boat Division. It is on its way to the site of a land-based prototype for an atomic sub. Undersea craft from the New London base pass beneath the bridge daily, but none has ever crossed over it before.

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a communist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

That if you aren't color blind, you can be sure you're man or monkey...other forms of animal life are color-blind.

That the world today has 2,796 spoken languages...and English is second to Chinese in the number who speak it.

That a door on a government building in Washington, D. C., bears this sign: "4156, General Services Administration, Region 3, Public Buildings Service, Building Management Division, Utility Room, Custodial"...What is it?...A broom closet!

That it's no wonder the ordinary egg is round-shouldered...it has more than 100 taxes on it.

That a rhinoceros can outrun an elephant...tell this to your friends who are tired of betting on horses.

That you can hypnotize a chicken by tucking its head under its wing and twirling it in the air a few times...on the other hand, who really wants to hypnotize that kind of a chicken?

That the slot machines at the Havana Riviera, opening in Cuba next month, will be made of gold...Well Las Vegas?

That the odds are 850 to 1 your child doesn't have muscular dystrophy...but it is worth a medical check if he develops a waddling gait, a strange flat smile, abnormally large calves and has difficulty drinking through a straw.

Good Year For Home Building Predicted

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The head of Real Estate Research Corp. sees 1958 as a good year for the home building industry.

More houses will go up and net earnings will increase, James C. Downs told the 14th annual meeting of Ohio Home Builders here Monday.

But the board chairman of Real Estate Research painted a gloomier picture for the economy as a whole next year.

More rigid controls can be expected, he said, and taxes probably will remain at their present level.

Congress, Downs predicted, will shift its emphasis from economy and anti-inflation to a more liberal policy in order, as he put it, to correct the international situation.

Q—May a veteran take so-called avocational or recreational courses under the Korean GI Bill?

A—Yes, but only if he submits justifications to VA that the course will be of bona fide use in his business or occupation, and if VA gives him prior approval. However, courses in bartending, dancing or personality development are prohibited.

Q—I am a widow of a World War I veteran, and I have decided to continue receiving death compensation payments rather than payments under the Survivor Benefits Act. If I do switch to Survivor Benefits payments, could I at some later time change again to death compensation payments?

A—He may. However, veterans of all other wars may receive VA outpatient treatment only for service-connected conditions.

A—Yes. Your subsistence may be reduced by an amount considered equitable and just.

Officials Rule No More Apples For Teacher

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Competition in gift giving has caused school officials in a Rochester suburb to rule that there are to be no more apples for teachers.

The principals of the 13 schools in the West Irondequoit School District said in a letter to parents, "In the last few years, the monetary value of gifts to teachers by pupils has increased to a point where a problem has been created."

"Since children are required by law to attend school, it is our feeling that they should not be subjected to competition in the presentation of gifts to teachers."

Spunky Youngster Doesn't Ask Favors

ST. LOUIS (AP)—"Why don't you have any fingers?"

"I wasn't born with them."

That's what five-year-old Jerry French told an inquisitive classmate during his first day at kindergarten Monday.

Jerry was born without hands or feet and his life has been a daily struggle to do things he sees other youngsters do.

The spunky boy, equipped with mechanical hands and feet, has an amazing will to be just like the other kids. He can scribble with a pencil, brush his teeth, eat without aid and ride a bike. He declined to go to a school for handicapped children.

The boy who asked Jerry why he didn't have any fingers furnished the only tense moment yesterday. The teacher, Miss Frances Pearce, said Jerry answered easily and without embarrassment. The other children seemed satisfied.

"We feel that Jerry will be able to do everything the other children do, except probably art work," Miss Pearce said.

Dr. Boyd said that while Freddie's six brothers and sisters are market bound, Freddie will stay home.

Girard

like to re-enlist when his term expires Jan. 27. An Army spokesman said any re-enlistment application would be judged on its merits, although conviction for a felony normally rules out an applicant.

U. S. officials said a visa application for Girard's wife Haru (Candy) "is being processed normally and we see no complications."

Candy, meanwhile, was hiding from reporters.

Although the case at its outset had created a furor in Japan and America and a crisis in U. S.-Japanese relations, there was little immediate public reaction to its outcome. The newspaper Asahi said the friends and neighbors of Mrs. Naka Sakai, victim of Girard's shot last Jan. 30 on an Army firing range, were "almost heartlessly indifferent and said they could not understand why there was so much fuss about it."

The Girard case attracted world wide attention when veteran's groups and some newspapers and congressmen in the United States protested the Army's turning the soldier over to a Japanese court.

The fess finally subsided after the U. S. Supreme Court ruled there was no constitutional bar to letting Japan try Girard.

Kayoko Sakai, 18-year-old daughter of the victim, said, "I never expected that he would get a suspension. I think a suspended sentence means acquittal. However, I hope Girard will become a good member of society."

Presiding Judge Yuzo Kawachi said after the verdict he hoped Girard "will become a better man."

He added: "After all, the court's job is not to sentence a man to jail; it is to try to keep him out of jail so that he will reflect how to become a better man."

Convicted of manslaughter, Girard was convicted of causing "bodily injury resulting in death," the Japanese equivalent of manslaughter. He faced a possible prison term of 2 to 15 years.

At the time of the killing the soldier was guarding a machine gun and other equipment from Japanese swarming over the range to collect scrap brass. He admitted firing the fatal shot—an empty casing stuffed into a grenade launcher attached to his rifle—but contended he shot in the air to scare the Japanese away and hit Mrs. Sakai in the back by accident.

In its 4,000-word verdict the court conceded "there is no evidence anywhere . . . that the accused aimed and shot his rifle with the intention of hitting Naka Sakai's body."

The court sharply rejected the defense contention Japan did not have jurisdiction since Girard was on duty at the time. When the shooting occurred.

Suspension of the sentence was justified, the court said, by "the accused's age, character, career, his environment and various circumstances" and because "the court feels the accused himself has adequately repented of his former crime and feels there is no fear of repetition."

State Department Collecting Gifts Saud Gave Employees

WASHINGTON — The State Department has collected and taken custody of all known gifts to its personnel from King Saud of Saudi Arabia.

There is one exception, however. That is the $4,000 automobile given by Saud to the family of Victory R. Purse, former deputy chief of protocol at the State Department. The car is registered in his wife's name, and the Department made no effort to reclaim it.

Disclosure of the gift to Purse's wife several weeks ago touched decided Purse could keep the car and his job. He was found to be within the law but to have exercised "bad judgment."

The Department acted last week to clarify the regulations governing acceptance of gifts by State Department personnel at home and American foreign service officers abroad. A circular was sent around to all of them.

In effect, the circular ruled out any gifts except those of insignificant value, such as autographed photographs.

The order to turn in gifts from Saud went out nearly two weeks ago. It was done quietly. Wrist watches, Arab robes and ceremonial daggers—standard among gifts dispensed by Saud during his Washington visit last February—were turned in. They were taken over by the protocol division for storing until the Department decides whether to give them back.

The program will include Grand March from Aida by Verdi and highlights from Carousell, directed by David N. Young of Dover; Mozart Suite selection, Serenade, and The Ambassador Overture by Scarlatti, directed by Richard Howestine of Salem; and the Rosamunde Overture by Schubert-Weaver and South American Overture by Isaac, directed by A. ## Stevenson Expected to Keep With Party Leaders on NATO

WASHINGTON — Adlai E. Stevenson apparently is going to keep Democratic congressional leaders fully informed of the progress of his NATO program discussions with Secretary of State Dulles.

Stevenson, the twice-defeated Democratic presidential nominee, was said to recognize that his party's members of Congress must assume the major responsibility for any bipartisan support for proposals to be laid before the North Atlantic Council next month.

But Stevenson himself emphasized that "I am here not as a Democrat only, but as one who has had some experience in the foreign policy field."

That was his reply to a reporter who asked whether he expected congressional Democrats to accept him as their spokesman.

Among other things, Stevenson worked on the founding of the United Nations in 1945 and served with the American delegation. In 1953 and again this year, he traveled extensively abroad.

He conferred Monday with Dulles and received a number of tentative State Department working papers. After a day of studying them, he commented that they had incorporated some of the suggestions he made to Dulles about a week ago in a written memorandum.

He called his first day's work a good beginning. He said he would leave tonight for New York and Chicago, but will return next Monday to "work right through" to a Dec. 3 White House meeting of Republican and Democratic congressional leaders.

Stevenson is serving a department spokesman said, as "a private citizen who is making his views available." He will hold no title and will receive no salary or expenses, though he has been assigned an office across the hall from Dulles.

Stevenson took time out to talk over the NATO situation with Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.), his 1956 vice-presidential running mate. And he expects to confer later with Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the Senate's Democratic leader.

Johnson has not yet commented on Stevenson's acceptance of an adviser's role, but House Speaker Sam Rayburn said the action is a "fine thing."

He added in a news conference in Dodge City, Kan., that "we need all the brains and patriotism in both parties to work out this international situation which is bad."

Sen. Smathers (D-Fla.), said in an interview he thinks the fact Stevenson is participating in the conferences with Dulles and eventually will meet with President Eisenhower will increase Democratic confidence in the NATO program finally evolved.

Kefauver also said he is glad Stevenson accepted the assignment.

U. S. to Deport Woman Born in Soviet Union

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A Russian woman, described by government witnesses as an active Communist party organizer after she entered the United States, has been ordered deported.

Mrs. Jean Kramer, 44, a native of Gome, Russia, is the wife of Harry Klotz-Kramer, former circulation manager of the left wing weekly, People's World. She refused to testify at the hearings out of which the deportation order stemmed.

Her attorney, George Anderson, said the order by the immigration hearing officer, Monroe Kroll, would be appealed.

participating in Worldwide Bible Reading, a program sponsored by the American Bible Society.

THIS WILL MARK the 14th year that Americans, too, will take part in the program which is endorsed by President Eisenhower and a lay committee of prominent men and women, including former Presidents Hoover and Truman.

Of special significance this year is the fact that more persons than ever will be able to join the reading program, since a milestone was recently reached in Bible translation work and the Scriptures are to be had in many new hitherto unpublished tongues.

The Bible — or some portion of it — has been translated into more than 1,100 languages and dialects of the world, thanks to devoted missionary translators and the language experts of the American Bible Society and similar societies abroad.

TO BRING THE BIBLE to people living in remote areas, to make it possible for them to read the Scriptures in their mother tongue, is often an incredibly difficult task.

Millions of people in the remote islands of the South Pacific, the neglected regions of India, the jungles and deserts of Africa and the steaming lowlands of the Amazon have no alphabet, have never seen a single word of their language written.

The only way to learn such a language is to sit down with the natives and ask for simple words and phrases. At first, the missionary must point to objects, employ gestures, mimicry — anything in order to obtain the names for commonplace objects such as tree, cow, hut, canoe, bow and lion.

By this slow process he finally gains a vocabulary, but this is only the first of his difficulties, for many of the sounds are extremely troublesome.

IN KEKCHI, a language of Guatemala, "kak" means "our pig" and "q'ak" means "fire." Imagine the confusion created by the wrong word, if a missionary were to translate the phrase, "fire came down from heaven" as "our pig came down from heaven."

The appreciation shown missionaries by these Bibleless peoples, many of whom constitute comparatively small tribes living in isolated areas, was poignantly expressed by a little Luba-Lulua lad in the central Congo.

He sat listening with fixed gaze as the missionary read from the Scriptures. When the service was finished, he begged, "Oh, sir, may I have that book, so that I may read it to the people of my village off in the forest, for those words made holes in my heart."

That was the idiom of his language — eloquently expressive — to show how deeply the words from the Bible had entered his heart.

Efforts Renewed to Seat Jury in Murder Trial

LIMA, Ohio (AP) — Attorneys renewed their efforts today to seat a jury in the first degree murder trial of Ralph Forsythe, accused of slaying Charles Conner during a jealous rage.

Police said witnesses told them the 42-year-old Forsythe shot Conner, 37, Aug. 10 in Forsythe's kitchen. The shooting climaxed what witnesses said was a dispute over Conner's attentions to Forsythe's wife.

Yet despite an intensive search, Conner—dead or alive—has never been found.

Six jurors have been selected this far. Thirty-five veniremen were questioned Monday, but attorneys and Common Pleas Judge Moran B. Jenkins dismissed most of them because of their opposition to capital punishment.

TO SUPERVISE HOSPITAL COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Dr. Joseph E. Duty, Ohio commissioner of mental hygiene, Monday announced the appointment of Dr. Joseph M. Garland as acting superintendent of Toledo State Hospital.

Dr. Garland, physician specialist-psychologist at the hospital since July 1956, will take over the post left vacant when Dr. Duty, former superintendent, was named commissioner.

Scientists Ordinary People With Specialized Knowledge

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter

NEW YORK (AP) — Scientists are strange and puzzling people for one simple reason—they are human.

They are ordinary people with specialized knowledge in one or more sciences.

But they are bearing a cross of considerable public opinion which thinks scientists are oddballs, very evil or very dedicated to good, impractical, superhuman, absent-minded, self-centered, godless, or dull.

Surveys show 25 to nearly 50 per cent of teen-agers and adults hold such opinions.

This doesn't make scientists happy, naturally. They say these attitudes don't hurt them personally so much as science generally, and the decisions of youngsters whether to become scientists. Russia encourages no such views about science and scientists.

Movies about "mad scientists" played a part in creating prejudices against scientists, says anthropologist Margaret Mead.

So have concepts drawn from TV, newspapers, radio, teachers, gossip, and behavior of some scientists themselves.

Meet many scientists and their common denominator of humanity becomes clearly apparent.

Some are avid football or baseball fans, or love music, books, poker, or playing tennis or pool.

Others like bridge, growing roses, seeing plays, travel, swimming.

Many are gay and witty, some quiet, some shy, or all these things at different times. Only a very few are stuffed shirts or snobs who think you ought to know a lot about their subject or speak their language in order to be intelligent—though they know precious little about other people's specialties.

They love their work, especially the good ones, and are wrapped up in it as is anyone who likes his job. They find their work exciting—that's why they chose it.

Dr. Ernest Pollard, chairman of Yale's biophysics department, tells a story illustrating how easy it is to absorb popular concepts about scientists in general.

A high school girl worked one summer in his laboratory as a dishwasher and assistant to a technician. Among eggs being used for research, one hatched a baby chick, which became her pet.

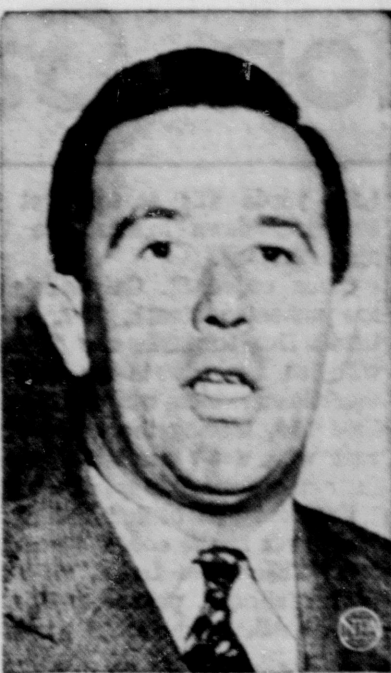

One day it tried to follow her into an elevator, and fell four floors into the well below.

"She was terribly impressed that scientists in our lab solved the not-easy problem of rescue in a few minutes through intelligence, brawn and kindness," Dr. Pollard says. "She says it was an eye-opener how human and nice scientists are, not like the popular pictures of them."

Ernie Pollard doesn't say so, but it's also a tribute that at home he's regarded as a human being, father and husband rather than a scientist.

For the young girl was his own daughter, Carol.

Massillon Gains On Benedictine in Ohio Title Race

Toledo Gains On Top 2 Teams

Ousts E. Cleveland From Unbeaten Ranks

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The race for Ohio's high school football championship tightened up a bit today in the weekly Associated Press poll, but Cleveland Benedictine's unbeaten Bengals retained a comfortable lead.

The Bengals, idle as they await their Thanksgiving Day date with Cleveland St. Ignace, saw their lead cut from 107 to 37 points as second-place Massillon rolled over its ancient foe, defending champion Canton McKinley, by 25-7.

Toledo Devilbiss, also with a Thanksgiving Day date, ousted East Cleveland Shaw from the unbeaten ranks in a rugged 19-14 scrap, to creep closer to the top pair.

With Benedictine and Devilbiss, two of the four unbeaten-untied teams in the top 10, still having a game to play, the sports editors in the poll decided by majority ballot last week to hold the final vote after the Thanksgiving Day games.

That gives everyone a chance to take a long look at the records, the opposition played and other factors before deciding which team is worthy of the state championship and the Rutgers Hall of Fame trophy which go annually to the top-placer in the final Associated Press ratings.

The top 10 carnage was terrific last week as Cincinnati Purcell, Lancaster and East Cleveland Shaw, the last three among the elite, were beaten for the first time. And Fremont Ross, fifth-placer, was held to a 13-13 tie by Toledo Scott to prevent coach Mai Mackey from hanging up his third straight 10-victory season.

Purcell was victimized 9-6 by Cincinnati St. Xavier. Lancaster's 12-game winning streak was blasted 31-7 by Portsmouth's resurgent Trojans who wound up in a blaze of glory after an illness-hampered season. Shaw bowed to Devilbiss although coach Leo Strang's team was the first to score two touchdowns against Hilton Murphy's fine third-placers.

Fourth-place Warren smacked Youngstown Ursuline 26-0. Idle Youngstown South climbed from sixth to fifth, moving around Fremont Ross. Troy, 20-13 winner over Miamisburg for 27 straight, also went around Fremont, from seventh to sixth. Shaw moved from 10th to eighth on its great showing against Devilbiss, and Purcell dropped from eighth to ninth.

From Here and There: Unless the ratings are scrambled entirely in the post-Thanksgiving Day final voting, the state title will leave Stark County for the first time in 10 years. Massillon won it seven times in a row before Canton McKinley took over the last two seasons.

Gil Smith's Van Wert team defeated Celina 41-0 in the final game for its fourth straight unbeaten campaign. The Van Werts are unbeaten in the last 7 games and have won the last 24 in a row.

Five fumbles and two pass interceptions were the big factors in Portsmouth's win over Lancaster. Larry Baughman of the Gales, who has carried 181 times for

Mohawks Take Over Top Spot In Hockey Loop

By The Associated Press

The Cincinnati Mohawks are right back where they have been most of the time in their five previous years in the International Hockey League—in first place.

Winning two of three games during the past week, the Mohawks took over the top spot in the loop as Louisville's Rebels lost their only two contests after running up a four-game winning streak.

Cincinnati had a six-game winning streak going until Indianapolis and goalie Cliff Hicks shut out the Mohawks at Indianapolis Sunday night, 1-0.

But even in defeat, Cincinnati goalie Glenn Ramsey continued his amazing net minding. He has allowed only 20 goals in the Mohawks, 10 games and has permitted only 9 tallies in the last 7 contests.

The defeats Louisville suffered at the hands of Troy and Toledo dropped the Rebels into second place and they're now only one point ahead of Ft. Wayne and Troy.

Fort Wayne won two games and tied one during the past week while Troy won one, lost one and tied one.

Toledo, rallying after a dismal start in which it lost five of its first seven games, broke even in four contests during the week to move into a tie with Indianapolis for the fifth and sixth spots in the standing.

Louisville will get a chance to move out in front this week as the Rebels play three games before Cincinnati plays again. They will play five games in six nights while Cincinnati plays only twice.

Barrett pointed out that a first class athlete develops from observing these four things as well as practicing correct training rules and possessing a keen attitude.

He said that football should never be taken from the youth of America because of the types of training it gives a young athlete.

Featured guests at the fifth annual banquet staged for the Leetonia gridiron teams included Earle Bruce, Salem football coach; Pete Lanzl, Youngstown East mentor and Ben Sharscu, of the Youngstown Sporting Goods Company.

The banquet was served by the women of the club headed by president Mrs. Lucille Billet.

John Gabriel acted as program chairman for the event.

Barrett was introduced by Citino.

Rev. Father Braun of the Leetonia Catholic Church conducted the invocation while Rev. Robert Ferguson of the Methodist Church conducted the benediction.

Bill Russell Holds Lead In Rebounds

NEW YORK (AP)—George Yardley, the stock, jump-shooting specialist of the Detroit Pistons, and defensive stalwart Bill Russell of the Boston Celtics are important reasons why their teams are leading their respective divisions in the National Basketball Assn.

This was emphasized today with the release of the weekly statistics that showed Yardley holding the highest scoring average and Russell considerably ahead in rebounds.

Yardley averaged 31 points in four games last week, boosting his season's mark to 26.7 points a game. In point production, he ranks behind Dolph Schayes of Syracuse, Bob Pettit of St. Louis and Bill Sharman of Boston. But George has played two less games than the other three.

Schayes has 279 points followed by Pettit with 276, Sharman with 261, and Yardley and Philadelphia's Neil Johnston with 258 each.

Russell, who is sixth in individual scoring, has snared 288 rebounds while Pettit is the runner-up with 170. Russell set a record last Saturday by coming down with 49 rebounds.

Maurice Stokes of Cincinnati is the top man in assists with 58. Sharman is the leader in free throw accuracy.

Tribe Infield Getting 'Good Going-Over'

HAVANA (AP)—Cleveland's infield problem is getting a good going-over by Frank Lane, the Indians' new general manager.

And Lane, with probably second baseman Billy Martin and first sacker Vic Power of Kansas City in mind, plans to make full use of his catching depth in any trade discussions.

"While other major league teams are crying for catchers, we have some of the best," said Lane Monday. "With five men available that gives me considerable flexibility and leeway in deals for infielders."

He named his catchers as Jim Hegan, Russ Nixon, Earl Averill, Hal Naragon and Dick Brown.

Lane is here to discuss the Indians' personnel with field boss Bobby Bragan and scout Hoot Evers. He is expected to start back for Cleveland late today.

"Both Bragan and myself are particularly impressed with our fine catchers," Lane said. "Some of these could be factors in making trades with other American League teams to build up Cleveland's infield."

Lane said his visit here and his talks with Bragan, who is managing the Almendares club, have been most beneficial in helping him to plan future moves.

Crawford Kennedy, 22, Holds Cross-Country Championship

NEW YORK (AP)—Ireland's Ron Delany couldn't make up his mind and, as a result, Crawford Kennedy, 22-year-old Michigan State sophomore, today had the ICA cross-country championship.

Delany, who is a senior at Villanova, bemoaned his strategy after Kennedy won the 5-mile test Monday in 24 minutes, 14.8 seconds. Crawford topped a field of more than 300 rivals.

"I know it was a mistake not to have gone after Kennedy when he took the lead with about two miles to go," said Delany. "And by the time I had made up my mind to try and catch him it was too late. I figured I could catch him with about a mile to go, but that mile went by chocking fast."

Delany finished second in 24:30.

He was followed by Peter Close of St. John's of Brooklyn and Fordham's Don Luisi. Delany trailed Kennedy by 90 yards at the finish.

Henry Kennedy, the winner's brother and the defending titleholder, was eighth.

"I've been feeling lately that Crawford was the runner in the family," he said. "I became convinced last week when he finished second in the Big Ten championships while I finished third."

In addition to return to East Lansing with individual honors, Michigan State also retained the team title and retired the handsome ICA cup. Five legs are required for the cup's permanent possession. The Spartans triumphed previously in 1948, 1952, 1953 and last year.

the Philadelphia Eagles.

Los Angeles is raving about halfback-end Jon Arnett, former USC star, and three of San Francisco's last-minute victories have resulted from touchdown grabs by a rookie end, R. C. Owens of the College of Idaho.

Then there's end Lamar Lundy (Purdue) and back Paige Cothren (Mississippi) of the Rams; defensive back Milt Davis (UCLA), whose pass interceptions beat the Bears for Baltimore last Sunday; defensive back Terry Burr (Michigan) and offensive end Steve Junker (Xavier, Ohio) of Detroit; back Dean Derby (Washington) of the Pittsburgh Steelers; fullback Paul Hornung (Notre Dame) and end Ron Kramer (Michigan) of Green Bay; lineman Jerry Tubbs (Oklahoma) and Dave Luncford (Baylor) of the Chicago Cardinals, and many more.

"Sure, it's the best rookie crop I've seen since I've been in pro football," he said, "an unusually large group of unusually good payers."

First year men have done so well this fall taken a spectacular day for a veteran of the Frank Gifford, Norm Van Brocklin, or Bobby Layne stamp to get his name in the papers.

Jimmy Brown (Syracuse All-American) and Milt Campbell (Indiana) have had a lot to do with bringing the Browns back to the top. Washington's Redskins have a starting backfield of three rookies, Jim Podoley of central Michigan, Ed Sutton of North Carolina, and Don Bosseler of Miami (Fla.), with Eddie LeBaron the only veteran.

'What's Best For Ohio?' Is Good Topic For Debate

State, County Road Experts Weigh Safety Future Costs

Ohio's county engineers are divided on the State Highway Department's program to keep high standards for safety and construction of interstate freeways, a survey by The Salem News showed today.

But they are virtually all agreed that they should get together with State Highway Chief Charles M. Noble on a pattern for the millions of dollars of construction yet to come.

When Mr. Noble was lured to Ohio a year and a half ago by Gov. C. William O'Neill, he set up a program of building highways that led from somewhere to somewhere, instead of piecemeal a few miles at a time.

He wanted, too, to build now for the needs of a quarter of a century hence, instead of facing additional costs of widening and leveling a few years in the future.

Mr. Noble had established a national reputation as a highway engineer during the years he headed New Jersey's road program. Success of the network of freeways there in moving traffic rapidly and safely focused Gov. O'Neill's attention on him.

A group of county engineers headed by Albert S. Porter of Cuyahoga County criticized the program as "extravagant." They adopted a report in the name of the Ohio County Engineers Assn., urging that Director Noble's highway standards be relaxed.

Eleven of the 88 county engineers were in on the report and some of the others were informed about it. A survey by The Salem News showed that many of the engineers knew nothing of the report until they were informed of it by the newspapers.

WADE SHIDLER of Stark County was a member of the committee of the Ohio County Engineers Assn. that adopted the report and said he feels the recommendations are "very good."

But he was quick to add he believes the engineers' committee should meet with Mr. Noble to compromise differences between the two.

A five-member committee was named to meet with Mr. Noble. It includes Mr. Porter, a possible candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor; Robert F. Eastman of Clark County, chairman; C. W. Stacy of Washington County, R. J. Bocabella of Belmont County and A. J. Moon of Wyandot County.

MR. SHIDLER said the task ahead in connection with roads and freeways "is so large that we should have unanimous agreement on the best planning and construction to build these roads."

The county engineers association wants Ohio to use federal minimum standards as its guide for such items as curves, grades, right of way and bridge widths.

Mr. Noble explains that the federal minimum standards were established to accommodate less-populated states with less traffic. Ohio, he insists, should not accept these minimums because it is a heavily populated industrial state with heavy intra- and interstate state traffic pouring across its roads.

MR. NOBLE has refused to get embroiled in arguments about the State Highway Department's program. He has turned down numerous invitations to appear before partisan political groups.

The reason he has repeated time and again: "I came to Ohio to build highways, and I'm not carrying out my responsibilities to the state if I veer from those duties."

Mr. Porter has been sniping at Mr. Noble's department for several months. He and Mayor Anthony Celebrezze of Cleveland, another possible candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, have accused the highway department of delaying Cleveland's portion of the interstate freeway system.

Gov. O'Neill blamed lack of cooperation on the part of the Cuyahoga County officials and their failure to get rights of way available in certain spots.

He cited, by comparison, the cooperation of city, county and civic officials in Stark and Summit counties along with state and federal officials as a shining example of what can be accomplished in getting a road started.

THE GOVERNOR referred to the 431 mile stretch from Canton to Charlotte, N.C., via Dover, New Philadelphia, Marietta and Charleston, W. Va., which recently was added to the interstate freeway system on which the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads pay 90 per cent of the cost.

The road will tie in with Akron and Canton expressways past Akron - Canton Airport to provide a freeway route eventually from Cleveland to the Deep South, using much of the Route 21 right of way from Dover south.

THE FEDERAL Interstate Highway Act provides that highways must be designed to meet estimated traffic demands for 1975. The U. S. Bureau of Public Roads has established minimum standards for the interstate system.

"But, these minimums," Mr. Noble said, "are for the less-populated states. We in Ohio cannot be satisfied with minimum requirements when we know we are an industrial state which generates a lot of traffic."

"Ohio is on the crossroads of virtually all highway systems. Our geographical location means that all traffic going east or west from the major industrial states must cross on Ohio highways."

MR. PORTER has attacked Ohio's road design standards as too high, citing specifically "flat" curves, 2 per cent grades, wider bridges, wider shoulders and wider traffic lanes.

"We are firmly committed to the policy that Ohio needs more and better roads," Mr. Porter's committee said. "We realize they will cost money — a great deal more money than is now available through current levels of taxation. . . ."

"It therefore follows that if there is any extravagance or over-provision, the ultimate burden of the taxpayer will increase to a point where the present favorable acceptance of road programs may easily be turned into strong opposition to additional taxation for road purposes."

"IT IS QUITE possible that such lavish provision on a few super-roads where it is not justified may easily wreck the entire highway program."

On the "flatter" curves urged by Mr. Noble, Mr. Porter's committee said: "We think 100-miles-an-hour design speed is excessive and that longer, flatter curves add un-

As a result, new ones had to be built and the old ones scrapped, thus wasting huge sums of money for bridges, rights of way and expensive paving."

Mr. Porter's group attacked requirements for full-width shoulders and berms on bridges as "extravagant."

Mr. Noble said he was hired to do a job for Ohio.

"I don't want to see the highways we're building today become obsolete within just a few years," he said. "It's too expensive to build new ones to replace them."

EXPERIENCE has proved, too, the highway chief said, that when new major thoroughfares are built they generate more traffic than pre - construction estimates had provided for.

Mr. Noble and his staff met with officials of the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads last summer and went over the design and standards for many of the major thoroughfares planned for Ohio.

The federal government, which will pay 90 per cent of the cost of the interstate freeways, approved plans submitted by Ohio.

"The State Highway Department's chief concern," Mr. Noble said, "is to build highways that will give Ohioans the most for their money over a long-range program."

HERE'S WHAT other county engineers told The Repository about the Porter-Noble controversy:

CARROLL County Engineer Donald Blythe: "Satisfactory roads could be built from one-third to one-half of the state specification cost."

WAYNE County Engineer Walter H. Metzler: "I think all engineers, whether in county or state work, feel it is commendable that the State Highway Department has embarked on a program for modern highways."

"There's a need for new roads, but the ultimate source of the revenue is always the taxpayer."

"It's only reasonable that engineers in the various counties believe the program should be carefully reviewed. If it is decided after this review that Ohio should take the lead in the vast highway program, it also will follow that the state should be prepared to pay for it."

COLUMBIANA County Engineer Charles O. Snyder said he knew nothing of the association's report and expressed surprise at its acceptance. He added:

"I have enough faith in Charles Noble to subscribe to his proposals on highway construction. He is highly qualified and certainly knows what's best."

JEFFERSON County Engineer

Martin (Poker) Smith: "As long as the present standards exist and can be applied, I have no objections to them." He said he had not seen the engineers association's report.

SCIOTO County Engineer O. Carson Barklow said he had not seen the report and would not comment until he has had a chance to study it. "It probably will stir up a lot of debate," he said.

MARION County Engineer Reed Ours said he agrees with major points urged by the association. Although he did not attend its meeting, he said he believes Mr. Noble's ideas would be "expensive at the present time and with the money we now have available."

TUSCARAWAS County Engineer George E. Arnold declined comment.

HOLMES County Engineer Harris H. Palmer said "I have my views" but do not care to comment.

Japan has received much of its previous advance data on the two Soviet sputniks—such as their anticipated route—from the calculations of U. S. scientists. The Russians have given out almost no advance data except the radio frequencies on which the baby moons transmit and timetables of their crossings over various cities.

Several hundred suggestions for getting a raise

Whenever you think about money—and we hope you do think of it from time to time—here's a useful idea to keep in mind:

There are more ways of trying to increase your income than by asking for a raise. You can own common stock in any of hundreds of prosperous companies with the idea of getting extra income from dividends.

Today eight and a half million Americans own stock. And the wonder is that there are not many more. Because when you own stock you are a part-owner of a corporation.

As an owner you can share in profits the company pays in dividends and share in its growth through increase in the value of your stock. In this way you can get income from other sources than your job . . . an income that may keep coming in whether you're working or not.

How to go about it

Start with money left over after emergencies are provided for. And before you invest a penny, get the facts about the company. Don't depend on tips or rumors. Remember that a company may not pay dividends, may not grow, may even go backwards in our competitive business world. And get good advice from a nearby broker—making sure he's with a Member Firm of the New York Stock Exchange.

But remember, too, that there are hundreds of prospering companies. There are over 300 companies on the New York Stock Exchange that have paid dividends every three months from 20 to 93 years.

Free booklet gives facts

You'll find their records and additional valuable information in our wonderful booklet, "INVESTMENT FACTS." It also describes the Monthly Investment Plan, through which you can buy stock in some of America's most famous companies for as little as $40 every three months up to $1000 a month.

Drop in to see a friendly broker in a nearby Member Firm of the New York Stock Exchange. Ask him for a free copy. He'll be glad to help you work out a sensible investment program, perhaps recommending bonds instead of stocks. He'll help you buy or sell, and from time to time you can ask him to review your securities with you—an important thing to do.

But first of all, send the coupon now for your free copy of "INVESTMENT FACTS." It may prove one of the wisest moves you've ever made.
